

This would, no doubt, be of interest to some people. Our experience in the field of UFO investigation, however, would not justify the United Kingdom in taking the initiative in such a project. Any proposal which might be put forward in the future by an international organisation such as the United Nations would be considered on its merits in the light of evidence available at the time.

(ANTONY LAMBTON)